

LIBERTY LOAN CAMPAIGN

ADAMS COUNTY HAS BEEN DISTRIBUTED FOR CANVASS.

The County Has Been Divided Territorially as Follows in Preparation for the Third Loan.

(A) Banking Districts. The county has been divided into ten Banking Districts.

(B) Voting Districts. Each Banking District has been divided into convenient districts based chiefly on existing voting districts, and a sub-chairman of the Adams County Liberty Loan Committee has been appointed for each to take charge of the campaign in his Voting District.

(C) Canvassing Districts. Each Voting District will be divided by its sub-chairman into convenient districts to serve as units for canvassing purposes. In the townships these Canvassing Districts will in most cases coincide with the existing school districts, while in the boroughs and wards they will be bounded by streets. Every sub-chairman will then appoint a captain in each of his Canvassing Districts to take charge of the actual work of selling Liberty Bonds to the people living there. Each captain may appoint as many lieutenants as he sees fit to assist him in order that every voter and property holder is personally solicited to buy bonds.

Cold Storage Plant.

Subscriptions are being listed for the capital stock of the Adams County Cold Storage Company. Officers are J. L. Butt, president; Dr. C. H. Huber, secretary; and J. E. Musselman, treasurer. Other members of the Board are D. M. Sheely, of Cashtown; Charles H. Smith, of Gettysburg; George Myers, of Biglerville; and Chester J. Tyson, of Floradale. The capital stock is $50,000 and much of it has already been subscribed.

The ground was purchased last year along the W. M. and Reading R. R. west of the ice and Storage Co., and the new company will be operated in a degree in conjunction with that company, which has proved to be one of the most successful business enterprises of the town as a money earner. The proposed building of brick and reinforced concrete will be 100 by 140 feet and have a capacity of storing 45,000 barrels of apples. With only one cold storage plant in the county, the one at Biglerville, the greater part of the apple crop has gone to city storage houses. The Gettysburg plant will furnish the opportunity for more apples to be stored at home and the growers to reap the benefit of advanced prices instead of storage companies. The contract for the building has been given to C. O. Hafer, of Chambersburg, builder of the Biglerville and other plants.

ADMINISTRATOR'S NOTICE Estate of John C. Lower, deceased, late of the Borough of Gettysburg, County of Adams, State of Pennsylvania. Letters of administration with the will annexed on the above estate having been duly granted to the undersigned, all persons indebted to the said estate are requested to make payment and those having claims to present the same without delay to F. MARK BREAM, Administrator c. t. a., Gettysburg, Pa.

GOVERNMENT DEMANDS FLOUR SUPPLY REPORTS

All Household Must Report Flour Supply at Once—Card Printed in Newspapers Must be Used.

All householders in Pennsylvania have been ordered by the United States Food Administration to report the quantity of flour in their possession on a flour supply card issued by the Federal Food Administrator for this County and printed below in this paper. The card will not be issued in other form than that found printed in the newspapers so that if you are affected by the order you must cut out the clipping and mail it to the Federal Food Administrator for your County.

The following statement was issued by Mr. Heinz, Federal Food Administrator for Pennsylvania, in commenting on the above rule:

"The flour supply card issued by the Food Administration is the first step in a campaign to learn how much wheat flour is stored away in the homes. Household are given the opportunity to report on the flour supply card the number in their households, the amount of wheat flour on hand (including whole wheat and graham flour) and the amount they consider their thirty days' requirement. Those who fail to report will run the risk of prosecution and the penalty for hoarding—$5000 fine and two years' imprisonment or both. If any persons fail to report, the Food Administration can promise them no leniency, if found guilty of hoarding."

"By directing the public to state their flour holdings on the flour supply card the Food Administration is taking the step necessary to prevent a possible flour famine. Hoarders hasten famine. If next May, June or July we find ourselves without wheat flour, it will be because thousands of tons are stored away in cellars by unpatriotic householders who banish any consideration of the soldiers in their greed to have their own desire satisfied. The flour supply card is a government action which will meet with the approval of all those who have taken the time to study food conditions abroad and who know therefore that food is probably the foremost factor in winning the war."

OFFICIAL HOUSEHOLDER'S FLOUR REPORT

WRITE CAREFULLY.

No householder is permitted to purchase over 40 pounds of wheat flour nor to have more than 30 days' supply. Every householder must report immediately (on this form) to their County Food Administrator. Make report of all wheat flour on hand whether it is excess or not and urge on your neighbors the importance and necessity of making this report promptly.

Number in household.....adults.....children under 12. Wheat flour on hand (all flour containing any wheat).....lbs. Thirty days' requirements (when used with substitutes according to 50-50 regulation).....lbs.

I agree to hold my excess subject to the order of the United States Food Administration.

Name..... Postoffice.....

Street and No. or R. F. D.....

Maximum penalty for hoarding is $5,000 fine and two years imprisonment. These blanks will not be distributed. You must fill in your own blank and mail or deliver it to your County Food Administrator. An immediate report will avoid possibility of search and seizure.

SECRET NOT LOST

Composition of Greek Fire of Ancient Days Still Known.

Ingredients Are Said to Be Identical With Those of Liquid Used in Modern Times by Some of Warring Powers.

It is a common error to suppose that the secret of the composition of the Greek fire so jealously guarded by the emperors of Constantinople is lost. On the contrary, it is set out at length in an Arabic manuscript of the year 1225, now in the Royal museum at Leyden, as well as in the better-known "Liber Ignium ad Comburendum Hostes" of Martin Graecus, written five years later and republished in 1702. Its ingredients are there given as naphtha, pitch, resin and sulphur and are identical, according to a scientific writer with those of the incendiary mixture used by some of the warring powers.

The incendiary mixture in the Sire de Joinville's time is "a mixture of pitch, resin and sulphur, which is thickened with a sort of oil, the report of thunder and the speed of lightning so that the darkness of the night was dispelled by this horrible illumination," has misled scholars as to the way it was prepared. Books containing it were undoubtedly buried by engines on board ship resembling the modern— which was also the ancient—cannals; but the Greek sailors of the Middle Ages also used a cheirosiphon, or hand tube, worked by an officer, called a siphonator, which enabled him to direct it on any point he pleased of the enemy's vessel. This was undoubtedly the parent of the modern method.

How the liquid in question was forced out of the tube may still be doubtful but Professor Bury, in the notes to his edition of Gibson, thinks it was done by gunpowder, the composition of which was, according to him, already known to the Greeks of De Joinville's time. This would, perhaps, get over the difficulty of igniting the liquid before it was pumped on the enemy. The Germans, for example, seem to have improved on their model by using compressed air. The ignition was also arranged by mixing with the naphtha an organic substance which will spontaneously take fire when exposed to the atmosphere. But this was found to have its disadvantages. The liquid, once inflamed, was liable to blow back upon its projectors, and had the inconvenience of revealing the carrier of the engine and thereby exposing him to the attention of "snipers" of the other side. Hence it was found to be more prudent to separate the burning fluid itself from its means of ignition. Attacks are now begun by throwing fireballs into the enemy's trenches, with a fuse which lights them as soon as they touch the ground.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Ostrich a Short-Lived Bird.

In proportion to their size, ostriches are not long-lived birds, and even under the most favorable conditions it is seldom that individuals reach the age of from thirty to forty years, an age frequently exceeded by crows, cranes, parrots, and birds of prey. The source of weakness in their constitutions appears to be the digestive system. The proverbial phrase "digestion of an ostrich" is a popular misinterpretation of the observation that these birds, like many others, pick up stones, coals, keys and other miscellaneous hard objects, which are retained in the gizzard and no doubt assist in the trituration of food.

Deceived by Mild Winters.

The weather in these parts will have to do something much farther out of the common than anything it has yet shown the people of northern Ohio to beat certain early records. When Cleveland was about five years old three winters in succession were so strangely mild, from start to finish, that the settlers from New England were led to cherish unfounded hopes of the climate of the region to which they had migrated.—Cleveland Leader.

TO AILING WOMEN.

A Little Sound Advice Will Help Many a Sufferer in Gettysburg.

No woman should consider herself healthy and well if the kidneys are weak. Poisons that pass off in the secretions when the kidneys are well, are retained in the body when the kidneys are disordered. If the kidneys and bladder become inflamed and swollen worse troubles may quickly follow. This is often the cause of bearing-down pains, lameness, backache, etc. Uric poisoning is also frequent cause of headaches, dizzy spells, languor, nervousness and rheumatic pain.

When suffering so, try Doan's Kidney Pills, a remedy that has proven effective in thousands of such cases. Let a Gettysburg woman tell of her experience.

Mrs. John L. Menchey, 46 Breckenridge St., says: "Several times in the past I suffered with backache and dizzy headaches. My kidneys acted irregularly, and bothered me greatly. I got Doan's Kidney Pills at the Peoples Drug Store and they gave me such good benefit I haven't found it necessary to use a kidney remedy in a long time."

Price 60c. at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Menchey had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y.

The Store That Sells Wooltex Coats and Suits

CURFEW VICTIM.

The curfew law has its first victim, a poor unfortunate child and a better illustration of blue law injustice would be hard to find. Before another illustration of injustice upon an unfortunate child is perpetrated in the name of curfew, the Compiler proposes to the good people of the town asking for this curfew law the following:

Let a committee, say of three, two women and one man, who counted this curfew law, come to the Compiler's office and go with the officer to the home of the first victim, from whose mother a fine of $2.50 was taken. Let them see why the father did not answer the summons to appear at the justice's office, let them hear the story of the mother, who had the care of a crippled child for years, and who needs every penny she has to feed her family and keep a roof over their heads. Let them see the environment of the child from whose mother the $2.50 was taken. Then if that committee shall decide that it was right for the community through a curfew law to take money from that family, the Compiler will return that amount of that fine. If the committee should decide it was not right to have taken that fine from that family, then the committee shall have the good people of the town responsible for the curfew return that fine. If the committee so decides, the borough authorities can be required to return the fine as an additional charity. It will not take more than a half-hour to make the demonstration proposed and surely the good people who have sought the police power of the community to safeguard their good intentions in a curfew should be most willing to witness the use made of the power for which they are responsible.

WHERE DO THEY STAND?

Mr. Brodbeck will have two opponents, with aspirations for Congress, flouting by announcements in the New York newspapers. There is a peculiar omission in these announcements that must have some significance. Brodbeck stands on his record of supporting President Wilson. The aspiring opponents have not yet said a word about supporting Wilson and the administration. They have not mentioned the war. They want to go to Congress to legislate about the most important matter before the country, winning the war, and yet no word is said of any position to be taken on this momentous matter. They do not let a word escape about fighting the Kaiser and German militarism until put out of business. Everyone knows the Kaiser put his fist under Ambassador Gerard's nose with the threat "When this is over, I will settle with America," and the same Kaiser has told of his world-dream of conquest with the mailed fist. There is only one American point of view—win the war, and not a thought is suggested by these aspiring opponents on this most important of all subject. Is the omission accidental or is it intentional? If latter, why? Let every American Democrat stand by Brodbeck who is standing by the President.

—Walter Swisher, who went to Camp Meade from Gettysburg, being later transferred to an engineer unit at Washington, has sent word to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Swisher, that he has arrived safely in France.

To Your Interest== All the People

An election is coming on, and it's not too early for you to do some thinking.

No man ought to be nominated of whom it is not certain that if elected he will support the Government,—the President. Mr. Brodbeck, as your Congressman, has stood by its standing by and will stand with President Wilson in the matters that have been of such grave importance to our Country. Mr. Brodbeck has met all issues squarely, he hasn't "ducked," but was ready to vote and did vote on all the important matters that came before Congress. He has faithfully represented this District as many hundreds of persons can verify who have had matters taken up for them.

Mr. Brodbeck is well acquainted with the conditions that have resulted from the war; he is in touch and knows what to do as various matters come up. The experience he has had and is having is of very great value not only to the District, but to you because if you have not had matters to bring to the attention of the Government, there is no telling when you may have, and you can realize what an experienced man in Congress under these conditions will mean to you.

Mr. Brodbeck desires peace, and peace at as early a date as possible, but the kind of peace that will mean that we may continue to enjoy the liberties we have been and are now enjoying and will not mean that there may be within our lifetime another war or that we may be placed in the position of being slaves.

Mr. Brodbeck should be returned to Congress for the good of the District ; for your good. He is a candidate. Isn't it a fact that on account of conditions as they exist, he is your candidate ?

The Sheely Brothers
Barn Wind Storm Loss

This barn, a new one, was one of the largest, the best built, the most up-to-date barn in Southern Pennsylvania, yet it did not withstand the wind storm, and the loss is thousands of dollars.

The loss is partly covered by cyclone insurance issued at Martin Winter's office.

The cost of this kind of insurance on a farm barn is $3.75 per $1000 insurance for three years (the rate on houses being lower).

The question therefore for every property owner is:

Does it pay to rise the loss of $1000 for three long years to save $3.75.

It requires less than five minutes to destroy a barn, and there are a good many five minute periods in three years.
